

Questions to Help us Support Reading Instruction

In Centennial School District, we have systems of support for serving all students. Our classroom teachers and reading teachers partner with parents to ensure that every student receives the support they need to become successful readers. As partners, we have some questions for you that can help us support your child in learning to read.

What are some of your child's strengths? What do they like about school?

Can your child recite songs, chants and/or rhymes that have been taught to them? _____

At home, does your child like to talk and tell stories? _____

What age did your child begin to speak 2-3 word sentences in their home language? _____

Are there any close family members (mom, dad, uncle, aunt, brother, sister) that have struggled in learning to read, write or spell in their home language?

Does your child seem to have trouble seeing? _____

Does your child seem to have trouble hearing? _____

Has he/she had a history of ear infections? _____

Do people outside of your family understand your child (in their native language)? _____

Is there anything else you would like us to know about your child?
